

Biography

Rebecca Onkar

Education: Bryn Mawr College, BA, Classical & Near Eastern Archaeology

Experience: Missionary - Faith Calvary Ministry, India
Business Owner - Freedom Administrative Services LLC
Business Owner - Sell My Stuff LLC
Administrator - Seeds of Hope Ministries
Secretary - Alvah & Doris Veit Foundation
Director of RISE (Outreach) - Fellowship Community Church, Collingswood, NJ

After graduating from Bryn Mawr College in 1991, Rebecca felt a call to the foreign mission field. In 1999, she moved to the country of India where she lived and served as a missionary until 2011. At that time, she returned to the US with her four daughters and began her first business, Freedom Administrative Services. In 2012 she joined the Alvah & Doris Veit Foundation as Secretary.

Rebecca has a love for the lost and continued to pursue this God-given call on her life by joining Seeds of Hope Ministries located in Camden, NJ in 2014 as Administrator. She is active in her local church and has served as Children's Director and Director of Outreach, as well as serving on the Leadership Team and Missions Team.

In 2021, Rebecca and her husband, Chris, started Sell My Stuff, an estate and collections business.

Chris and Rebecca, along with the children, many fish, 3 turtles and 1 cat, live in South Jersey. They love the Jersey Shore and hope to relocate there once they are empty nesters.